REACHING STUDENTS, MAKING DISCIPLES

More than a Coincidence(x2!)

God is working in Thailand! I want to share with you two amazing things He has done recently. November 5, 2013

God (over-)answers specific prayer

While I was in the US, I prayed often about where I would live when I returned to Thailand. I had a specific list of things I wanted in a house! When I arrived in Chiang Mai, I started hunting for the perfect home.

Finally, after three weeks, I found this house through a friend of a friend. It is everything I asked God for. PLUS, He *over-*answered in a number of ways! One, the rent is half of what I was expecting to pay. Also, the two previous tenants were missionaries - the property does not have a spirit house and it hasn't been used for spirit worship. And amazingly, the owner of the house, my landlord, is a professor at the University of Phayao - the very place where we are launching our first Take5 site next year. Wow. God answered my prayers, and gave me more than I could even think possible.

SPARE SIXTY Can you spare sixty? Will you please spend the next sixty seconds praying for a specific need in Thailand? // Pray for the two professors at the University of Phayao that I've mentioned here: my landlord, Professor Warat, and my friend Jeab. Pray for their salvation, and pray that our relationship will benefit God's work in the future with students in Phayao.

Praise and Prayer
PRAISE GOD FOR: providing a great place for me to live; preparing the way for work in Phayao with divine appointments and relationships. PLEASE PRAY FOR: volunteers to join us in Phayao for a year or more; transition at TLC as team members return to the States and we need staff for the center.

A Divine Appointment

Three other team members and I went to Phayao for a visit in September. We had a prayer walk on the University of Phayao campus. I was standing at the end of a hallway, looking out over a grassy area, with a set of stairs on the other side. I felt someone on the stairs looking at me, and then when I looked closer, I knew who it was! Her name is Jeab - she was in my class at TLC in 2006 (my very first trip to Thailand), as a junior chemistry student. When I moved here in 2009, she studied off and on with other friends at TLC in 2009-2010. She received her PhD in chemistry at Chiang Mai University, and since October, she's been a chemistry professor at Phayao. She recognized me from the stairway, but she thought I was still in America. To see her at that very moment was more than a coincidence!
